available if needed. An Attorney [redacted] Suite 1440, First National Bank Building, Jackson, Mississippi, was employed to make the necessary reports which went to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Mississippi Secretary of State's Office, and other places as required by law. [redacted] was apparently attempting to comply with the law in all respects and there was no indication during 1972 that there was anything illegal about the acceptance of contributions from corporations to the campaign fund. [redacted] advised that the possibility of anything illegal relating to these contributions was never discussed and he feels sure that the attorney and the members of the Campaign Committee were not aware of the possibility that the corporation contributions might be in violation of Federal laws.

[redacted] estimated that about 90 percent of the campaign contributions went directly to [redacted] or [redacted]. These contributions were solicited by various members of the Finance Committee whose identities were not immediately known, but who live in various cities throughout the State of Mississippi. It was well known by individuals working on the campaign that [redacted] was the man who handled the contributions [redacted] deposited them in a separate bank account at the First National Bank, Jackson, Mississippi.

[redacted] explained that had anyone realized that these corporation contributions were illegal, they would certainly have insisted that the contributions be made by individuals rather than by the corporations. He further speculated that it might be necessary to have the monies refunded to the various corporations and then attempt to obtain matching contributions from individuals rather than corporations.

[redacted] advised that Senator JAMES O. EASTLAND [redacted] did not receive any direct benefits from these campaign contributions. They did have authority to use the funds for the campaign, but not for any other purpose. [redacted] was not aware that either Senator EASTLAND [redacted] withdrew any funds from the campaign contributions.

JN 56-112

[redacted] explained that the attorney who prepared the required reports regarding campaign contributions would get the records from [redacted] and after preparing his reports would return all records to her.

[redacted] indicated in conclusion that it was a complete oversight on the part of the Campaign Committee to accept contributions from corporations since he now realizes this was done in violation of the United States Code. He said he feels certain that the Campaign Committee and others involved in this matter were not aware of the existing Federal law which had been passed a few months prior to the campaign which forbids any contributions by corporations to such an election campaign fund. He noted that most of the contributions were made during May and June of 1972, a few months after the law was enacted. He explained that the bank account containing these campaign contributions, as well as all other campaign contributions, was closed in 1973 after all bills had been paid and all matters regarding the campaign fully settled.

[redacted] repeated that [redacted] actually kept the books and records regarding the monies received by [redacted] as contributions to Senator EASTLAND's campaign fund. The only three people authorized to write checks on the campaign fund account were [redacted] Attorney [redacted] Jackson, Mississippi, and [redacted] [redacted] explained that he does not recall Attorney [redacted] ever writing any checks, however.

Federal Bureau of Investigation

Attention: Special Agent [redacted]

b6
b7C

Dear Mr Moore:

Following my conversation of yesterday at the Gulf National Building at 9:00 o'clock A.M. with you and Agent [redacted] I wish to make the following statement to be included with and to be made a part of any report dealing with the One Thousand Dollar ($1,000.00) contribution to the campaign of Senator James O. Eastland.

As I explained to Agents [redacted] and [redacted] the campaign contribution, dated April 27, 1972, was a personal donation of [redacted] [redacted] I showed you the books of record, including the journal showing that this check was charged to my personal account on page 43, and further that this check was then posted in the ledger to my account number 2902 in total as indicated by the bulk transfer of the same at the bottom of the page number CD43. Further, I showed you the stub of this check indicating in my handwriting that this check was to be charged to me personally, plus the records enumerated above to prove that in fact it was charged to me personally.

I requested that the Agents verify with all of the local banks or any other banks that I do not maintain now, nor did I maintain during the year in question, any personal checking accounts. I ask that the Agents further verify this fact, that I am normally charged with checks which are to be used for my own personal expense as was this campaign check, with Internal Revenue Agent [redacted] of the Gulfport office. [redacted] has recently completed a detailed audit of the Bradford-O'Keefe Funeral Home, Inc. and we have agreed to these audit changes on June 19, 1974, and he is in a position to verify the accuracy of any statements with regard to the fact that I do not maintain a personal checking account and that these checks were charged to me in an accurate and a complete manner.

I request that the enclosed evidence be made a part of any report made to any agency with regard to the questions raised at the meeting of yesterday.

Very truly yours individual who owned a corporation or whether it was a corporate contribution. She did not make any particular effort to distinguish between these two types of contributions since she assumed that the matter was entirely legal. She did utilize the information sent to her identifying the various contributors and this information was included in her ledger as accurately as possible. She received these contributions not only from [redacted] but from other individuals since it was well known to the campaign workers at Jackson, Mississippi, that she was the person who handled the bank account and made the deposits. She also mentioned that she had the authority to write checks on the account in order to pay the expenses of running the campaign. Several other persons also had this authority to make payments from the campaign account.

[redacted] advised that she personally kept the books and when it was time to make periodic reports regarding the campaign contributions, she would make available all of her records to Attorney [redacted] FNB Building, Jackson, Mississippi, who prepared these periodic reports as required by law and would ultimately send same to the Secretary of the U. S. Senate as well as to other places. She did not recall attempting to explain anything to attorney [redacted] about the corporate contributions as opposed to personal contributions and the matter was never brought to her attention by [redacted] or by anyone else. She stated [redacted] apparently did not realize that these corporate contributions were illegal or he certainly would have raised a question about it with someone.

[redacted] disclaimed any knowledge of any wrongdoing in connection with anything relating to the James O. Eastland Campaign Fund and stated that she still has all of her records and will gladly make them available if wanted. She offered to assist in any way possible in this investigation.

[redacted] Bradford O'Keefe Funeral Home, Incorporated, 314 East Howard Avenue, Biloxi, Mississippi, furnished the following information to [redacted] and [redacted] who identified themselves as Special Agents of the FBI, after having been furnished an Advice of Rights form, which he read and stated he understood, but declined to sign and after having been advised the purpose of the interview being a possible violation of Federal Statutes, in the contribution to a campaign committee on behalf of the Bradford O'Keefe Funeral Home, Incorporated:

[redacted] stated that he did make a contribution to the Senator EASTLAND campaign fund by a check drawn on the Bradford O'Keefe Funeral Home, Incorporated, 314 East Howard Avenue, Biloxi, Mississippi, check number 8879, dated April 27, 1972, payable to the Senator EASTLAND campaign fund, drawn on the Peoples Bank of Biloxi, Mississippi, and signed by [redacted]

[redacted] advised, however, that even though the check was drawn on the Bradford Funeral Home, Incorporated, that the money was actually taken from his salary. [redacted] stated that he does not maintain a personal checking account and that all of his personal expenditures are on checks drawn on the Bradford O'Keefe Funeral Home, Incorporated, account which are in turn debited from his salary.

[redacted] also made available for inspection a journal of the expense checks written on the Bradford O'Keefe Funeral Home, Incorporated, which also included numerous checks drawn on the corporation for [redacted] personal expenses which were debited against his income from the corporation.

One of the checks drawn on the corporation and debited against the income of [redacted] was check number 8879, dated April 27, 1972, payable to the Senator EASTLAND campaign fund in the amount of $1,000.

[redacted] stated that [redacted]
[redacted] of the 1972 James O. Eastland Campaign Fund. He did not recall specifically how he was selected but [redacted] First National Bank (FNB) [redacted] other members of the campaign [redacted] picked him to handle the finances. [redacted] [redacted] actually handled the keeping of the books for the campaign fund and also handled all deposits in the campaign fund account at FNB, Jackson. She kept accurate records and maintains those records and deposit slips for all contributions made to the 1972 James O. Eastland Campaign Fund.

[redacted] explained that many voluntary campaign workers throughout the State of Mississippi were instrumental in obtaining donations to the campaign fund and these contributions would be collected throughout the state and sent in, usually in groups. Several contributions would come in at one time and often there was no information regarding the contributors other than the information which appeared on the check itself. Sometimes, later, a list of contributors would come in pertaining to the checks which had been sent in previously.

During the 1972 campaign there was between $300,000 and $400,000 contributed. Practically all of the contributions were from individuals; however, in a few instances there were some corporate contributions which were accepted due to oversight and due to a lack of knowledge regarding the Federal law which prohibits corporate contributions to campaign funds.

[] recalled personally receiving a few large corporate checks payable to the campaign fund which he did return to the corporation with instructions that the contribution be made by personal check or by individual proprietorship check rather than by corporate check. He explained that some of the corporations are wholly owned by one individual and it was assumed that these contributions were personal rather than corporate.

[] stated that he was not too well acquainted with the handling of campaign contributions and those were therefore handled very informally and he generally turned over any contributions sent to him by mail or received personally to his secretary and she would thereafter enter the contribution in her book and make individual deposit slips and put the monies in the campaign funds account. [] was not a paid employee of the campaign fund committee but voluntarily did this since she was []

[] stated there were only approximately three paid employees in the State of Mississippi who worked for the campaign fund for a salary.

b7C

[] explained that he did not see many of the contributions that came in and they would be turned over immediately to his secretary without him personally observing each individual check. As it turned out, a few of these checks were corporate checks but were unnoticed by him and [] went ahead and entered the contribution since she had no other information to indicate otherwise.

When only a check was received, it was not clear always who actually had sent the contribution. Usually the money would arrive first and a few days later someone would send in a list of contributors relating to the checks which had already been deposited. [redacted] kept the records as accurately as possible with the information available to her. She was not aware of any Federal violations in connection with these contributions.

[redacted] expressed surprise that there were as many corporate contributions as there were but repeated that he had not seen these corporate contributions. He stated there was certainly no effort on his part or on the part of [redacted] to hide any information whatsoever regarding the contributions and she listed each and every contribution in her book as well as making a separate deposit slip listing each of the various contributions.

[redacted] pointed out that the corporate contributions only represent a very small percentage of the total contributions to the campaign fund and had it been known that the contributions were illegal, they would have been certainly returned in order that the money would be donated to the campaign in accordance with existing Federal laws.

[redacted] was made aware of the list of corporate campaign contributors and based on this list, he had [redacted] prepare a corresponding list showing the names and addresses of the various corporate contributors as reflected in her records. [redacted] made available this list to the FBI.

[redacted] stated that he is entirely willing to furnish any additional information requested in this investigation and will cooperate in any way possible.

Mr. RICHARD H. MOLPUS, President of Molpus Lumber Company, 221 Gum Street, was contacted at that place of business, at which time he was advised as to the identity of the contacting Agent and the fact that he was being contacted relative to an official investigation concerning a possible violation of Title 18, Section 610, United States Code, which is an investigation of James O. Eastland Campaign Committee. Mr. MOLPUS was then shown an Interrogation; Advice of Rights and Waiver of Rights Form, which form he read and stated that he understood. Mr. MOLPUS related that he did not care to sign the form but had no objection to talking with Agent RUCKER. He then volunteered the following information:

Mr. MOLPUS stated that his lumber company is a corporation and that he owns 100 percent of the corporate stock in the Molpus Lumber Company. Mr. MOLPUS then commented that "I am the Molpus Lumber Company, and the Molpus Lumber Company is me."

Mr. MOLPUS related that he does recall that on an unrecalled date in 1972, during a period of time in which his business was very successful, he did give a check in the amount of $500 on the Molpus Lumber Company account to the James O. Eastland Campaign Committee. Mr. MOLPUS stated that even though this was a company check, he was giving the check as a personal contribution, hoping personally that his donation would in some small way assist EASTLAND's campaign for the U. S. Senate from Mississippi, and especially since there was a good possibility that because of EASTLAND's position in the Senate, he could become President of the United States. Mr. MOLPUS advised that he is not a personal friend of Mr. EASTLAND in that he has only met EASTLAND on one occasion, and stated that Mr. EASTLAND did not ask for the donation, nor did he give the donation in return for any favor he had received from EASTLAND. Mr. MOLPUS advised that he makes donations to the First Baptist Church in Philadelphia, Mississippi, from the same fund as that from which he made the donation to Senator JAMES O. EASTLAND. He then commented that he did not claim the donation to the EASTLAND fund on his Federal income tax, but felt that he was making an "out of the pocket" personal donation to EASTLAND's fund.

On July 31, 1974, Mr. ROBERT P. REGAN was contacted at the Star Chevrolet Company, Inc., 228 First Street, Wiggins, Mississippi. After the interviewing Agent had identified himself, Mr. REGAN was advised that he was being contacted at this time since information had been received indicating that on or about May 11, 1972, the Star Chevrolet Company, Inc., had made a contribution in the amount of $200 to the JAMES O. EASTLAND Campaign Fund, which constitutes a possible federal violation.

Mr. REGAN was thereafter furnished an "Interrogation; Advice of Rights" form and after reading same, stated that he desired to cooperate with the FBI; however, he wished to speak with an attorney concerning this matter.

On August 1, 1974, Mr. REGAN was again contacted at the Star Chevrolet Company, Inc., at which time he advised that he did not desire to sign an "Interrogation; Advice of Rights" form; however, he had spoken with his attorney and would make available to the FBI a copy of the check referred to above.

[redacted] Bailey Homes, Incorporated, 4646 West Beach Boulevard, was advised of the personal and official identities of the interviewing Agents and that he was being contacted concerning the possibility that a $500 corporate check had been payable to the campaign fund of Senator JAMES O. EASTLAND which would be in violation of Federal statutes. [redacted] was advised of certain of his constitutional rights and was then furnished a form entitled "Interrogation; Advice of Rights" which he read and stated he understood but advised that he preferred not to sign prior to discussing the matter with his attorney who is presently out of town. He thereafter voluntarily furnished the following information:

[redacted] stated that after he was contacted by SA [redacted] for an appointment he had verified that a $500 check had been made payable to Senator JAMES O. EASTLAND; however, he had neglected to tell his secretary to pull a copy of the check and stated that he was not familiar with the details concerning it; however, an employee of Bailey Homes, Incorporated, was presently attempting to locate that particular check. [redacted] stated that he was aware that a corporate donation to a political campaign was illegal, and he feels certain that if the check was actually written on the corporate checking account that he had actually issued instructions that the check should be written on a partnership account which exists to handle the finances of a partnership existing between [redacted] which partnership owns certain pieces of land and some apartments. He stated that the intent of the $500 contribution was that it would be from [redacted] rather than from the corporation of Bailey Homes, Incorporated.

b7C

[redacted] then left the interview for several minutes and returned with a Xerox copy of a check drawn on the Bailey Homes, Incorporated account at the Gulf National Bank. The check is numbered 15845 and is payable to JAMES O. EASTLAND in the amount of $500 signed [redacted]

Interviewed on 8/1/74 at Biloxi, Mississippi File # Jackson 56-112

The endorsement on the check reads "For Deposit Only" beneath which is written what may be an account number which is illegible, possibly 14-964-10, and beneath the number is written "JAMES O. EASTLAND Campaign Fund." The check is dated May 29, 1972.

[redacted] stated that on viewing the Xerox copy of this check that it bears his signature and that the $500 donation was drawn on the corporate account of Bailey Homes, Incorporated. [redacted] then, after a telephone conversation, which he stated was with [redacted] advised the interviewing Agents that no income tax deduction had been claimed for this check and no one had realized that the check was drawn on the corporate account which was illegal. He stated that since the error had not been recognized, it had not been corrected by a reimbursement from another account. He stated that therefore at the present time the $500 donation stands as a corporate donation; however, [redacted] stated again that it was not his intent that it should be a corporate donation since he was aware that this is in violation of Federal law. He stated that he actually intended that the check should be drawn on the partnership account as a donation between [redacted]

[redacted] stated that if it is desired that additional information be obtained in this matter, [redacted] a Certified Public Accountant in Jackson, Mississippi, can be contacted. [redacted] advised that he did not know [redacted] office address but stated that the Certified Public Accountant firm is in [redacted] name and would be listed in the Jackson, Mississippi, telephone directory.

[redacted] was advised of the identity of the interviewing Agent and that investigation was being conducted concerning possible illegal corporate contributions made to the JAMES EASTLAND Campaign Committee by the West Implement Company. She was advised of her rights as they appear on an Interrogation; Advice of Rights Form which she read and signed. She then provided the following information:

[redacted] were long time supporters of Senator JAMES O. EASTLAND and personal friends of his. When they determined they each wanted to make a $200 campaign contribution, the simplest manner in which to do it was to issue a company check and then deduct $200 from each of their accounts with the company. Using the company checking account in this manner was a common practice with them and did not indicate that they were spending company funds. The alternative to making the contribution in this manner would have been for the West Implement Company to make a check for $200 to each of them for moneys the company owed to them. These checks would then have to be deposited to their personal banking accounts and they would each then reissue a check on their personal accounts to the Eastland Campaign Fund. This seemed to her to be unnecessary and involved a great deal more trouble than the simple issuing of the check and charging it to their individual accounts.

When the check was issued for the Eastland Campaign Fund, she sent a note with it advising the committee that the contribution was in fact from [redacted]. She had the cancelled check but no longer had the note.

She emphasized that the contribution was, in fact, personal funds of [redacted] and not the funds of the corporation.

[redacted] advised after examining the ledger sheets that it was not possible to tell which deduction from [redacted] account was the $200 campaign contribution. She said it was apparent that there were a large number of charges against both their accounts and that the $200 charge was apparently combined with another charge.

The attached copies of ledger sheets and the cancelled check were made available by [redacted]

[redacted] stated that since the two checks allegedly written to the James O. Eastland Committee in the amount of $200 and $450 were a campaign contribution, he believes that he would have issued these checks and that [redacted] would have nothing to do with this matter. [redacted] stated that even if he did not prepare these checks, they would not have been sent without his knowledge.

[redacted] thereafter searched his records and could not find any record of either of these two checks having been written on either of his company's two bank accounts, the Bank of Inverness, Inverness, Mississippi, and the Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Belzoni, Mississippi. [redacted] stated that in view of the fact that he could find no evidence of these checks, the dates that these checks were allegedly prepared are probably in error. STEVENS was advised of his rights as set forth on a prepared form which he expressed his complete understanding thereof by executing the waiver of his rights. STEVENS voluntarily consented to the interview without the presence of his attorney.

STEVENS was advised that information furnished by him could be used in a court of law.

STEVENS stated that he would prefer not to furnish a signed statement at this time in lieu of the Agent recording the information as best he could recall same.

STEVENS advised that he is a close personal friend of United States Senator JAMES EASTLAND and has known him personally for over thirty years.

STEVENS stated that he has no information or knowledge of any corporate funds having ever been used in the campaign of Senator EASTLAND. STEVENS stated that he has been associated with the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation for many years and has no information or knowledge that any corporate funds of this corporation or any organization related thereto have been used in the Senator's campaign.

STEVENS stated that he was the president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation for 22 years from 1950 until his retirement in November, 1972. STEVENS stated that in 1972 he spread the word that Senator EASTLAND needed money in his campaign for reelection to the United States Senate.

Interviewed on 8/6/74 at Macon, Mississippi File # Jackson 56-112
by SA JAMES EDWARD KING:pjg Date dictated 8/7/74

STEVENS stated that he contacted and advised many employees and associates with the Farm Bureau Federation who were more than willing to contribute to Senator EASTLAND's campaign fund. STEVENS stated that they gave willingly and voluntarily. He stated that they gave various amounts in cash, ranging from $5, $10, $50, and perhaps as high as $100.

STEVENS stated that he could not recall any of these amounts, or who the individuals were who contributed same. He stated that he did not maintain or keep any records regarding this money and in all honesty, he could not furnish any names or amounts.

STEVENS did state that all monies collected were in cash.

STEVENS stated that he collected the money or received it from these various people and, either he or someone else, possibly his secretary, he could not recall the person at this time, took the cash money, purchased a cashier's check, and sent it to Eastland's Campaign Committee. STEVENS stated that he used the name Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation as most, if not all of the individuals that contributed freely, were employees of the Federation or associated with the Farm Bureau Federation.

STEVENS advised that this was the same case with Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Company, which was established and organized by Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation.

STEVENS further advised that this was the same case with Southern Farm Bureau Casualty Insurance Company whose main office was located in the same building as the Federation in Jackson, Mississippi.

JN 56-112

STEVENS advised that in both of the above cases many individuals willingly and voluntarily contributed cash money to him individually or to someone else who collected most of the money and turned it over to him, STEVENS. STEVENS further stated that he, in turn, purchased the cashier's check, using the name of the company to single out the contributors or had someone else, possibly his secretary, purchase the cashier's check in his name and forward the check to the campaign fund.

STEVENS stated that he has no record or receipts of these cashier's checks and has no idea if they exist at this time. STEVENS stated that he had no intentions of violating any law and stated that to the best of his knowledge, no corporate funds of these three organizations were used in contributing to Senator EASTLAND's campaign fund.

He stated that these cash monies belonged to the individuals who voluntarily contributed to the campaign funds.
